

Injuries cloud state fate for RI, Moline

Three sure medals by RI's Jones one of few Class AA bright spots

CHARLESTON — Ellery Stewart could feel Joe Manning's pain, and vice versa.

"What a time to have something like this happen," said Stewart, a Rock Island senior, after falling just shy of advancing to today's finals in three of his four events Friday at the Class AA boys' state track meet.

Most maddening, two of Stewart's near-misses were due to a trick knee locking up on him during a baton exchange in the 400-meter relay, and again after clearing the fifth hurdle of a 300 intermediate heat he was leading.

Stewart finished both races, but was thrown off stride enough to explain away a pair of micro-second misses in events the Rocks owned top-three seeds.

Moline's Manning met a similarly sorry fate in the 1600 relay, pulling a hamstring 50 meters into a race that the Maroons missed making the finals in by 1.1 seconds.

"The first time it popped, I felt I was going to fall," Manning said after somehow managing to run the final 350 meters of the third leg.

"It kept popping the rest of the way, but I just said to myself, 'I can't quit.' I wasn't about to let my teammates down."

And, yet, Manning was needlessly shouldering feelings of guilt while requiring the support of a pair of teammates to walk off the track.

As Manning gingerly made his way to the parking lot with the help of his relay mates, there was a heavy dose of plastic wrap on his upper right thigh to hold an ice bag in place.

"I went out strong and was gaining ground. I know I would have caught the guy in front of me," said Manning, who started out third, surged to within a stride or two of second, then fell back to fourth before handing off to anchor man Ben Shumaker. Matt Comella and Nate Medinger also ran on the relay.

"I was feeling so good, and those guys ran just great. We were on pace for a personal record. It really hurts knowing if I'd been able to hold up my end of the bargain, we'd be coming home with a medal."

Instead, the Quad-Cities big-school contingent must be satisfied with six medalists, including the three pieces of hardware Rock Island sophomore Maurice Jones made certain of Friday before a steady rain dampened the Class A session.

Jones heads into this afternoon's finals at Eastern Illinois University's O'Brien Stadium with the second-best time in the 200 (21.79) and the seventh-best time in the 100 (11.02). Jones also anchors the ninth-fastest 800 relay crew, which includes fellow underclassmen Dillon Smith, Bryan Tyson and Maurice Jones.

Also assuring themselves of a medal by advancing to today's finals were Shumaker (800), Comella (300 intermediate hurdles) and Stewart (110 high hurdles).

"Holy cow, Maurice just blasted off in the 200, coming from behind to win his heat in his fourth race of the day," Rocky coach Ed Lillis said.

"We're seeing the next big star emerge here in the last few weeks. He's going to be the next (multiple state champion) in that same tradition as Thomas Adams and Timmy Newsome and Aaron Taylor and Quinn Harris. He should end up right in there with all those good ones before he's through.

"Shoot, he's got a shot at winning (the 200 today), and so does Ellery in the highs. They're definitely contenders. At the very least, based on what I saw (Friday), they should finish in the top 3."

Rocky's long shot hopes of contending for the team title ended, though, with Stewart's misfortune in the 300s (nosed out of the heat win and the final qualifying spot by 0.52 of a second) and the 400-relay (which was 0.26 of a second from advancing).

Stewart also fell just one spot short of the long jump finals, finishing two-and-a-half feet from tying the last of 12 qualifiers.

The Rocks are among seven teams with four finalists. Another threesome have five each, but pre-meet co-favorite Elmhurst York has a whopping 11 entrants in today's finals.

"I'm down knowing I should be in four finals and my team should be in the title chase," Stewart said, noting he's been dealing with the knee problem all season. "I'll just have to take my frustrations on the 110 field. If I don't touch a hurdle, I can pull off a win."

Comella is facing similar therapy after also missing in three of four events. Besides the 1600 relay heart-break, the Moline junior missed making the 110 high hurdle finals by 0.15 of a second and finished well back in the long jump pack.

Ellery
Stewart

"It's something you just have to deal with, but the guy next to me in lane five throws his elbows and he popped me just as I was passing him," Comella said of his 110 disappointment.

"He got me four or five times with his elbow, and that threw me off. I didn't handle it well."

Among the other disappointments Friday were United Township's Terry Westbrook (400) and Ron Severtsgaard (triple jump).

Like UT, Geneseo was also shutout with Jeff Bowling (shot put), Cory Parrish (both hurdles), Dave Bopp (400) and the Bopp-anchored 3200 relay team failing Friday to advance. At least, the Leafs' Tim Nelson automatically qualified for today's 3200 at the sectional.

Rocky's Boomer Creger (1600), Zach Edwards (discus) and Quentin Jefferson (triple jump) also were eliminated from medal contention Friday.

RI star places in three events; second in 200

CHARLESTON — Maurice Jones might be too young to know about Jim Holland or Tom Hayes.

However, Jones is sure to get a history lesson after joining in Rock Island High School's track-and-field annuals those two members of this newspaper's list of the top 100 Quad Cities athletes in the 20th Century.

AA state track

In his first trip to the Class AA boys' state track meet, the super sophomore opened his bid to join the All-21st Century team of Quad-Citians by medalling in three events Saturday at Eastern Illinois University's O'Brien Stadium.

Moline's Matt Comella (sixth in the 800 intermediate hurdles) and Ben Shumaker (ninth in the 800) also became just the second pair of Maroons to win solo medals in the same year. Bob Johnson and Tony Jones set the school standard in 1979.

Rock Island senior Ellery Stewart also capped his prep career with a sixth in the 110 high hurdles.

However, Jones stole the local spotlight by anchoring home Rocky's ninth-place 800 relay team in between finishing sixth in the 100 and taking second by an eyelash in the 200, his last event of the day. The sophomore was joined by fellow underclassmen Dillon Smith, Bryan Tyson and Steve Burnett in the 800 relay.

"I think I did pretty good," Jones said in the understatement of the new century.

By placing in multiple solo events at the same state meet, Jones joined some select company.

Besides Holland (1943) and Hayes (1982), the list of legends previously accomplishing the feat includes Thomas Adams (1984), Aaron Taylor (1994), Floyd Shetter (1923) and Mark Stevenson (1974). Tim Newsome (1988-89) and Jim Ryerson (1995-96) are the only Rocks to turn the trick twice.

"As the youngest guy out there, I feel proud of myself," Jones said. "I was the only sophomore in the 100 and 200, and I almost won the 200."

Lemont senior Nick Bromberek was the only thing between Jones and a state title in his best event. The sophomore finished in a time of 21.81 seconds, less than three-tenths of a second behind Bromberek, also the runner-up in the 100.

"It would have been great to win, but life goes on. I came in second and I think that's great," Jones said after finishing behind an athlete that scored 38 points all by himself — which rated a second-place finish for Lemont at this weekend's state meet.

"I don't like to lose, but it happens sometimes. That's why you can't get mad, you have to get better. So now, I'll just have to work harder, and stay after practice more. I'll just have to come back next year and get my first."

Ditto for Comella, who not only walked away disappointed with his placing in the 300s, but also with medalling in but one event after qualifying for four in his first trip to state.

The junior failed to advance to Saturday's finals in the long jump, 110 high hurdles and 1600 relay.

"They caught me sleeping in the blocks," Comella said after a poor start had him in last (ninth) place heading into the first curve.

"I'm not used to showing up and running one race. Usually I'm long jumping and running the (110 high) hurdles before this. I was a little stiff and it showed."

That's why Comella would not reconsider competing in four events at state again, if given another chance next year.

"I wouldn't have it any other way. I'd probably be bored if I didn't compete in them all," he said after clocking a time of 38.66 seconds — just milli-seconds off his Friday time.

"It wasn't a matter of getting worn out, I think it's just a matter of age with me. Now I've got the experience. I'll come down next year and just do my thing. I'll know what's going on and know how to handle things and manage my time a little better."

Stewart and Shumaker don't have that luxury, however. As seniors, they are forced to be happy with their first and only solo medals, though Stewart was far from satisfied after also failing to advance in three events Friday.

Stewart said Friday he'd win the 110s if he didn't hit a hurdle Saturday.

Instead, "I hit about five," he lamented.

In a race nearly won by Western Big 6 Conference rival Calvin Oppenorth of Galesburg, Stewart's time of 14.70 was only slightly slower than his Friday best (14.52).

"I beat everybody out of the blocks, but that was about it. I hit the first hurdle, and it was all over," said Stewart, who will run junior college track in-state next season at either Parkland or Harper. "I caught it coming down.

Ellery Stewart

That's how I hit them all. I don't know what it was. It was just a bad weekend for me."

Knee problems plagued Stewart Friday in the 300 intermediate hurdles and the 400 relay. He also missed making the finals of the long jump.

"The knee's still bothering me, but not as bad as (Friday)," Stewart said after following up a fifth-place medal in the 400 relay last year. He failed to advance to the 300 finals as a sophomore. "I just had a bad race. It was probably my worst one all season."

Conversely, Shumaker ran the best race of his prep career. The time of 1:54.70 was eight-hundredths of a second better than the personal-best he set Friday.

"I got my first state medal in my last high school race," Shumaker said, noting the irony. "I choked in cross country this year, so this really makes up for that. It's a good way to finish out my career."

'I got my first state medal in my last high school race.'

Moline's Ben Shumaker, ninth in the 800

In his first trip to state last year, Shumaker failed to qualify for the finals in the half-mile, so the weekend-long goal was just to place on Saturday.

"I'm just thinking back on a lot of things and what it took to get here," said Shumaker, who will walk on at Louisiana State this fall and compete in cross country and track.

"I used all of those memories to push me through this, no matter how bad I feel about not making it in the 1600 relay (Friday). That was a real heart-breaker, but this helps heal those wounds a little."

On Friday, despite having leadoff runner Joe Manning pull a hamstring 50 meters into the race, the Maroons had been edged out of reaching the finals of the 1600 relay by 1.1 seconds.

The only one of eight local entrants to miss out on a medal Saturday was Geneseo's Tim Nelson (35th in the 3200). The top nine in each event took home hardware.
