

Rocks push finalists into six of nine events

By Bill Barton

CHARLESTON — Rock Island shot putter and discus hurler Marcus King is the first person to lend a teammate a hand.

Class AA state boys' state track

When King isn't throwing, he's either clasping a teammate on the back, giving a high-five or offering a word of support.

"Marcus is always walking around congratulating a teammate," said Rock Island coach Ed Lillis. "He's all about the team. All he wants to do is go to a meet, cheer on his teammates and then carry home the trophy. He's been there for us all season."

If King has a free hand, he'll even offer to carry Lillis' bags back to the team bus.

King's message: "We're in this together. Let me help you."

It seemed only fitting that King was the first of the Rocks to qualify to today's Class AA state track and field finals. In what Lillis described as a "nothing but awesome" day, King threw a personal best 56 feet, 4.75 inches to qualify in the shot put. It was 17.75 inches better than his previous best and the sixth best throw of the day.

King's personal-best initiated a string of Rocky qualifiers. Rock Island qualified for today's finals in six of the nine events it brought to state, including Wayland Ryan in the 100 and 200, Andy Parer in the 300 hurdles and the Rocks 800 and 1600 relay teams. Rocky's six finalists was third best among Class AA teams. Thornwood had a meet-high nine qualifiers.

"I knew we could do it," said King. "I have confidence in myself and my teammates. All I've been thinking about since sectionals is qualifying for finals."

Taking King's lead, Dillon Smith gave up his open 400 position at sectionals to help Rocky's 800 relay and 1600 relay teams at state. Rocky's 1600 relay team of Lawrence Davis, Mike Adamson, Jason Reda and Dillon Smith ran the fourth-fastest qualifying time of the day (3:20.38).

"I love the 400," said Smith. "It's been my favorite race since freshman year, but when I saw we had a better chance to qualify in the relays, I went with that."

Ryan won his 100 heat in 10.99, which was the fifth fastest time posted in Friday's prelims. His 22.00 200 was the prelims was the second fastest time.

"I have to come out with the mind-set if I run my race, I'll win," said Ryan.

Parer took the ninth and final spot in today's 300 hurdles finals. He had been on pace to break the Rock Island school record, but clipped the eighth hurdle with his foot.

"This has been a coach's blessing," said Lillis. "Marcus and Dillon are typical of the guys we have down here. They're all team guys. It's been a fantastic day."

While Rock Island qualified for finals in nearly every one of its events, United Township and Moline combined for just one finals' qualifier.

UT's Rodney Blue easily cleared the 6-foot-3 cut height in the long jump. It's the second straight year Blue has qualified for finals in the high jump. The Panther senior came into state tied for the best sectional jump at 6-foot-6.

"I know the top four guys have all gone 6-foot-9," said Blue, who has jumped 6-foot-8 several times this season. "Most of them are capable of going higher than that. I'm just going to try and stay with them."

Moline's young state squad had trouble matching the level of the competition on Friday.

Ryan makes it to finish line many thought disappeared

CHARLESTON

There was a time when it was doubtful Rock Island's Waylond Ryan would even run this season.

The sophomore sprinter partially tore his ACL in February, after awkwardly twisting his knee in practice. Doctors gave him a bleak assessment.

"There were a lot of people telling me I wouldn't be able to run," said Ryan.

However, Ryan refused to buy into the pessimistic offerings. Instead, he attacked his rehabilitation with an eye toward the state track meet. His determination was rewarded in the Class AA sprint finals on Saturday.

Ryan took third place in the 100 (10.92 seconds) and 200 (21.70) and was part of Rocky's seventh-place 800 relay team (1:29.56).

"You talk about a tremendous comeback story," said Rock Island coach Ed Lillis. "He missed about the first month and a half of the season and worked his way back slowly. It's been all good since then."

There are many things looking good for the Rocks. Ryan helped lead Rocky to a fifth-place finish at state, despite the absence of Maurice Jones and Steve Burnett.

"What if doesn't matter, what is does," said Lillis.

Ryan is just one of 10 Rocky underclassmen who qualified for state.

"We have a lot to look forward to — not just with our talent, but we also have a lot of motivation now," said Lillis.

Doctors may have underestimated Ryan's determination, but the stellar sophomore is used to being overlooked. Standing just 5-foot-6, Ryan doesn't cut the most imposing figure when he steps into the starting blocks. However, he more than makes up for his size with incredible leg turnover.

"A lot of these guys in the sprints are much older than me," said Ryan. "They all look at me and say 'You're going to be really fast when you're older.' They're almost like older brothers to me."

The possibilities for growth seem limitless among Rock Island's state qualifying group. Rocky's 1600 relay team of Lawrence Davis, Mike Adamson, Jason Reda and Dillon Smith took fourth, running 3:23.17. For sophomores such as Reda, it was an eye-opening experience, but gave him a boost of confidence for next season.

"I got to see how things are down here," said Reda. "I think we can actually win a state title."

Marcus King took sixth place in the shot put for Rocky, with a throw 56 feet, 4.75 inches.

"There's nothing wrong with going home with a sixth-place finish and a personal record," said King.

Andy Parer finished ninth in the 300 hurdles (39.65).

United Township's Rodney Blue took seventh place in the high jump, clearing 6-6.

"I beat the guy who won (state on Saturday) twice this season," said Blue, who cleared 6-foot-8 four times this season. "That's a little frustrating. I don't have any excuses though."

It was a bittersweet day for Aledo on the track. Jeromy Swanson took second in the 300 hurdles, running 39.79, but then was part of the Green Dragons 1600 relay team of Brock Adolphson, Brett Lee, Troy Blaser and Swanson that was disqualified. Aledo would have finished third if not for the DQ.

Swanson was called for interference of a Sullivan runner on the final lap of the race, when the two bumped each other at the 200 meter mark.

"It's difficult to accept," said Lee, who ran the second leg. "Jeromy didn't mean to do it. It was a complete mistake. We can't be mad. It was a good experience just getting to this point."

Aledo's disqualification opened the door for Riverdale, who moved into third place. The Rams 1600 team of Dan Deines, Guy Dierikx, Jeremiah McCoy and Nick Oney ran 3:25.26.

Erie-Prophetstown's Erik Lindahl took fifth in the pole vault (14 feet).
