Coaches Mel Snook and Jon Murray are both in agreement: Geneseo's 1993 cross country team was one of the most talented they have coached. The boys team went a perfect 10-0 in dual meets, while the girls posted a strong 8-2 mark. The Varsity boys kept up their winning ways throughout the 1993 season. They continued their streak of unparalleled conference dominance by winning their ninth straight NCIC championship. The girls finished second and the frosh/soph boys third. Six of the seven varsity boys runners earned all-conference honors, in addition to four girls and two frosh. (While the boys team had an older, more experienced make-up, the girls held a successful blend of both younger and more experienced runners. A sign of the teams youth: Geneseo frosh finished 3rd at Palatine and 2nd at Galesburg, both powerful invitationals that drew several of the state's top teams.) After their NCIC success, both the boys and the girls teams finished second in Regional competition. The Geneseo cross country season ended at sectionals, where the girls finished tenth and the boys twelfth. After the season, Andy Snyder was awarded his second most valuable runner honor. For the girls, Molly Reade also won that award.
